

What type of crazy radio show do you get when two comical radio veterans combine their talents? You get Controlled Chaos with Gary Garver and Jigga Jones.

Gary Garver became famous as Howard Stern's Hollywood reporter. For over a decade, his interview style made movie stars run for cover.

Jigga Jones is known for his viral videos seen by millions. Jigga brings an odd-ball sense of humor to radio that depicts the funniest and most politically incorrect aspects of the African-American underworld.

Controlled Chaos is either asking serious questions, talking trash or poking fun at the rich and famous. The show is outrageously funny, refreshingly creative and professionally produced.

Weekdays
8AM

The Controlled Chaos morning show with Gary Garver and Jigga Jones is a refreshing break from predictable cookie-cutter radio. The show has become an instant success. During their third week on the air, Controlled Chaos attracted listeners from 58 countries and 217 cities around the world. This was verified through third monitoring.

The show airs weekdays at 8 a.m. on KCAA 1050 AM in Southern California and online at www.kcaaradio.com. KCAA is the NBC News Radio Affiliate that serves the Riverside/San Bernardino Market. The station carries popular syndicated radio shows such as Alex Jones, Dave Ramsey, Don IMUS, Ed Shultz and Roseanne Barr. Even with this daily line up of radio superstars, the station received a tremendous increase in listenership when Controlled Chaos debuted. Since then, the show continually sets new online audience records every week.
